

It's time to give the EPA the air pollution science they're trying to ignore.

UCS is reuniting the independent panel of experts that the EPA disbanded, to do what the agency has thus far failed to do: review the EPA's assessment of the science linking particulate pollution and public health.

Barbara H. Warren, MD, MPH; ED PSR Arizona

Tucson, AZ